Atalian and Servest announce Pan-European JV

Posted by: Sarah OBeirne in Announcements, Business, Facilities Management, Global, Industry, Joint Venture, News 11 days ago

International facilities management companies, Atalian and Servest, have formed a joint venture (JV) to enable them to provide integrated FM solutions on a Pan-European basis.

Operating under the name 'Atalian Servest Ltd', the 50/50 owned JV will look to capitalise on both organisations strong operational reputations in their respective markets and expand their current offer to both existing and new customers across country boundaries.

Commenting on the new JV, Rob Legge, Servest Group CEO UK and Europe said:

"The world is becoming a smaller place and we have seen that businesses are now looking for unified solutions that bring their communities together. We wanted to offer our customers a Pan-European solution with a partner that operates with the same cultural and business philosophies as adopted by Servest in the UK."

Matthieu de Baynast, CEO of International at Atalian added:

"Both organisations have very like-minded business approaches based on an entrepreneurial strategy where organic and acquisitive growth are of equal importance."

Atalian and Servest will continue to operate in their respective regions and the JV will be utilised for opportunities where both companies have an operational presence.

Together the FM businesses have a combined reach of 140,000 colleagues, across 27 countries in Europe, North America, South-East Asia and Africa.
